INTERNATIONAL SPECIAL OPERATIONS COMMAND SERVER REGULATION

INTERNATIONAL SPECIAL OPERATIONS COMMAND

SERVER REGULATIONS

GOVERNING INSTRUMENT

TOPIC 1 — GENERAL PROVISIONS

A. Applicability

1. These regulations apply to all members, applicants, guests, affiliated personnel and administrative staff.

2. Access to or participation in the server constitutes acceptance of these regulations.

3. Ignorance of a regulation does not automatically exempt an individual from responsibility.

B. Interpretation

1. “Member” means any individual holding membership in International Special Operations Command; “Personnel” includes members assigned to an organisational unit or administrative division.

2. “Administration” means individuals entrusted with server management or moderation authority.

3. “Official Activity” includes briefings, meetings, recruitment, training and other formally designated activities.

C. Authority

1. The Administration shall interpret and enforce this Constitution responsibly and consistently.

2. No person is exempt by reason of rank, seniority, appointment or personal affiliation.

TOPIC 2 — CONDUCT & INTERPERSONAL RELATIONS

A. Respectful Conduct

1. All persons shall treat others with dignity. Harassment, bullying, targeted humiliation, intimidation, personal attacks and discriminatory hostility are prohibited.

2. Deliberate provocation intended to create hostility or disrupt the community constitutes misconduct.

B. Disputes and Retaliation

1. Members shall not deliberately escalate personal disagreements into public disputes; minor disputes should be resolved privately and respectfully where practicable.

2. Threats, intimidation, organised harassment and retaliation against a person for making a legitimate report are prohibited.

C. Impersonation and Misrepresentation

1. Impersonating a member, administrator or International Special Operations Command representative, or falsely claiming an appointment, authority or affiliation, is prohibited.

2. Knowingly misrepresenting another person’s statements or actions may constitute misconduct.

TOPIC 3 — PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

A. General Standards

1. Members shall exercise discretion and maturity when representing International Special Operations Command. Humour and casual conversation are permitted unless disruptive, abusive or inappropriate.

2. Deliberately disrupting official discussions, meetings or announcements is prohibited.

B. Official Proceedings

1. Members shall not deliberately interrupt briefings, meetings or administrative proceedings.

2. Unrelated conversation belongs in designated informal channels. Members shall respect the designated speaker or moderator.

C. Representation

1. Members shall not present personal opinions as official International Special Operations Command positions or make unauthorised statements on behalf of International Special Operations Command.

2. Deliberate conduct intended to damage International Special Operations Command’s reputation may constitute misconduct.

TOPIC 4 — COMMUNICATION & SERVER USAGE

A. Channels and Messaging

1. Channels shall be used for their designated purposes.

2. Message flooding, repetitive posting, excessive tagging, unauthorised advertisements, unsolicited recruitment and promotional material are prohibited.

3. Deliberate misuse of channels may result in disciplinary action.

B. Voice Communications

1. Members shall maintain reasonable audio etiquette. Microphone abuse, disruptive soundboard use, intentional audio interference and interruption of official voice proceedings are prohibited.

2. Recording or distributing private conversations without participants' knowledge and consent is prohibited, except where disclosure is reasonably necessary to report serious misconduct through authorised channels.

C. Language

1. English is the primary language for official International Special Operations Command communication.

2. Other languages may be used informally where communication remains accessible and respectful.

3. Language used to harass, threaten or deliberately exclude another member is prohibited.

TOPIC 5 — CONTENT & MEDIA REGULATIONS

A. Prohibited Material

1. Pornographic or sexually explicit material is prohibited.

2. Graphic content intended to shock, harass or distress; hate speech; discriminatory propaganda; extremist recruitment material; and content promoting targeted harassment or real-world violence are prohibited.

3. Malicious links, phishing, scams and suspicious downloads are prohibited.

B. Copyright and Attribution

1. Knowingly distributing pirated software, stolen material or unauthorised copies of protected content is prohibited.

2. No person shall falsely claim another individual's original work as their own.

C. Restricted Distribution

1. Private International Special Operations Command documents, recruitment records, internal administrative discussions and confidential personnel information shall not be disclosed outside authorised channels without permission.

TOPIC 6 — PRIVACY & SECURITY

A. Personal Information

1. Publishing another person's private information without consent, doxxing, or threatening to expose personal information is strictly prohibited.

2. Members shall not unnecessarily solicit sensitive personal information.

B. Accounts and Infrastructure

1. Unauthorised access attempts against another person's account, malware distribution, automated spam and deliberate disruption of server functionality are prohibited.

2. Deliberately exploiting administrative permissions or server vulnerabilities, or facilitating account compromise, constitutes serious misconduct.

TOPIC 7 — RECRUITMENT & EXTERNAL AFFILIATIONS

A. Recruitment

1. Recruitment shall take place through officially designated channels.

2. Unauthorised recruitment advertisements and unsolicited server invitations are prohibited.

3. Applicants shall be treated fairly and respectfully throughout recruitment.

B. External Affiliations

1. Members may participate in other gaming communities or organisations unless an applicable International Special Operations Command restriction has been established.

2. International Special Operations Command resources, identity and administrative privileges shall not be used to promote unauthorised external activities.

3. Deliberate interference with International Special Operations Command recruitment or organisational operations is prohibited.

TOPIC 8 — ADMINISTRATIVE AUTHORITY & ACCOUNTABILITY

A. Responsibilities

1. Administrators and moderators shall enforce these regulations consistently and use permissions only for legitimate organisational purposes.

2. Personal disagreements alone are not sufficient grounds for arbitrary disciplinary action.

3. Administrative decisions remain subject to review by the appropriate authority.

B. Abuse of Authority

1. Unauthorised use of moderation permissions, deliberate targeting through administrative privileges, falsification of disciplinary records and misuse of confidential information are prohibited.

2. Administrative personnel are subject to the same regulations as all other members.

C. Complaints Against Administration

1. Complaints involving moderators shall be submitted to a higher administrative authority.

2. Complaints involving the highest administrative authority should be reviewed by an independent designated representative where available.

3. Retaliation against a person submitting a legitimate complaint is prohibited.

TOPIC 9 — DISCIPLINARY FRAMEWORK

A. Principles of Discipline

1. Penalties shall be proportionate to the nature and severity of the violation.

2. Decision-makers shall consider intent, circumstances, prior violations, actual or potential harm, and aggravating or mitigating factors.

3. Repeated violations may attract progressively stronger penalties. Grave misconduct may require immediate protective action without prior warning.

B. Severity Classifications and Penalties

I — LEVEL I: MINOR MISCONDUCT. Examples: occasional channel misuse; minor disruption of informal discussion; unnecessary tagging or repetitive messages; first-time minor voice disturbance. Penalties: verbal reminder, formal warning and/or message deletion.

II — LEVEL II: MODERATE MISCONDUCT. Examples: repeated channel misuse; persistent disruption of official discussion; repeated unsolicited advertising; misconduct after a warning; minor harassment or deliberate provocation. Penalties: written warning, timeout of 1–24 hours and/or temporary channel restriction.

III — LEVEL III: SERIOUS MISCONDUCT. Examples: sustained harassment or targeted intimidation; deliberate impersonation of International Special Operations Command personnel; repeated discriminatory conduct; unauthorised disclosure of confidential material; deliberate interference with administration; retaliation against a reporter. Penalties: final written warning, timeout of 24 hours–7 days, temporary server removal and/or administrative or organisational review.

IV — LEVEL IV: GRAVE MISCONDUCT. Examples: doxxing; credible threats of real-world harm; malware distribution or deliberate account compromise; serious sexual harassment or exploitation; attempts to compromise or destroy server infrastructure; severe or repeated violations showing deliberate refusal to comply. Penalties: immediate removal, permanent ban, revocation of International Special Operations Command membership or appointments, and referral to Discord or appropriate authorities where warranted.

C. Aggravating and Mitigating Factors

1. Aggravating factors include repeated violations after warnings, deliberate targeting of vulnerable persons, abuse of authority, coordinated misconduct, and attempts to conceal or obstruct an investigation.

2. Mitigating factors include genuine misunderstanding, absence of malicious intent, voluntary admission, cooperation with an investigation and demonstrable corrective behaviour.

TOPIC 10 — DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES & APPEALS

A. Investigation

1. Reports shall be reviewed by authorised administrative personnel.

2. Relevant evidence may include messages, screenshots and available moderation records.

3. An accused person should ordinarily be given an opportunity to explain before a final decision. Immediate protective measures may be imposed where necessary to prevent further harm.

B. Decisions and Records

1. Significant disciplinary decisions shall be recorded, identifying the violation, supporting evidence, penalty and responsible administrator.

2. Disciplinary records shall be accessible only to authorised personnel.

C. Appeals

1. A person subject to disciplinary action may submit an appeal stating relevant explanations, evidence or grounds for reconsideration.

2. Where reasonably possible, an administrator other than the original decision-maker shall review the appeal.

3. An appeal does not automatically suspend the penalty.

TOPIC 11 — AMENDMENTS & FINAL PROVISIONS

A. Amendments

1. The authorised International Special Operations Command Administration may amend this Constitution. Significant amendments shall be communicated to members.

2. No amendment shall retroactively create liability for conduct that was permitted when it occurred.

B. Severability

1. If a provision becomes invalid, unenforceable or inconsistent with applicable platform regulations, the remaining provisions shall continue to apply.

C. Supremacy and Scope

1. This Constitution governs general Discord community conduct and administration.

2. Military SOPs, Rules of Engagement and operational directives govern their respective areas of organisational activity.

3. Where community conduct and organisational duties overlap, the relevant provisions shall be applied together where possible.
